Welcome

to our websiteShould wear a arning It's dangerous I'm fallin' There's no escape I can't wait I need a hit Baby, give me it You're dangerous I'm lovin' it Too high Can't come down Losing my head Spinning Do you feel me now With a taste of your lips can't you see I'm calling A guy like you Should wear a arning It's dangerous I'm fallin' There's no escape I can't wait I need a hit Baby, give me it You're dangerous I'm lovin' it Too high Can't come down Losing my head Spinning 'round and 'round Do you feel me now

With a taste of your lips

It's been a hard day's night, and I been working like a dog
It's been a hard day's night, I should be sleeping like a log
But when I get home to you I'll find the things that you do
Will make me feel alright

You know I work all day to get you money to buy you things
And it's worth it just to hear you say you're going to give me everything
So why on earth should I moan, 'cause when I get you alone
You know I feel ok

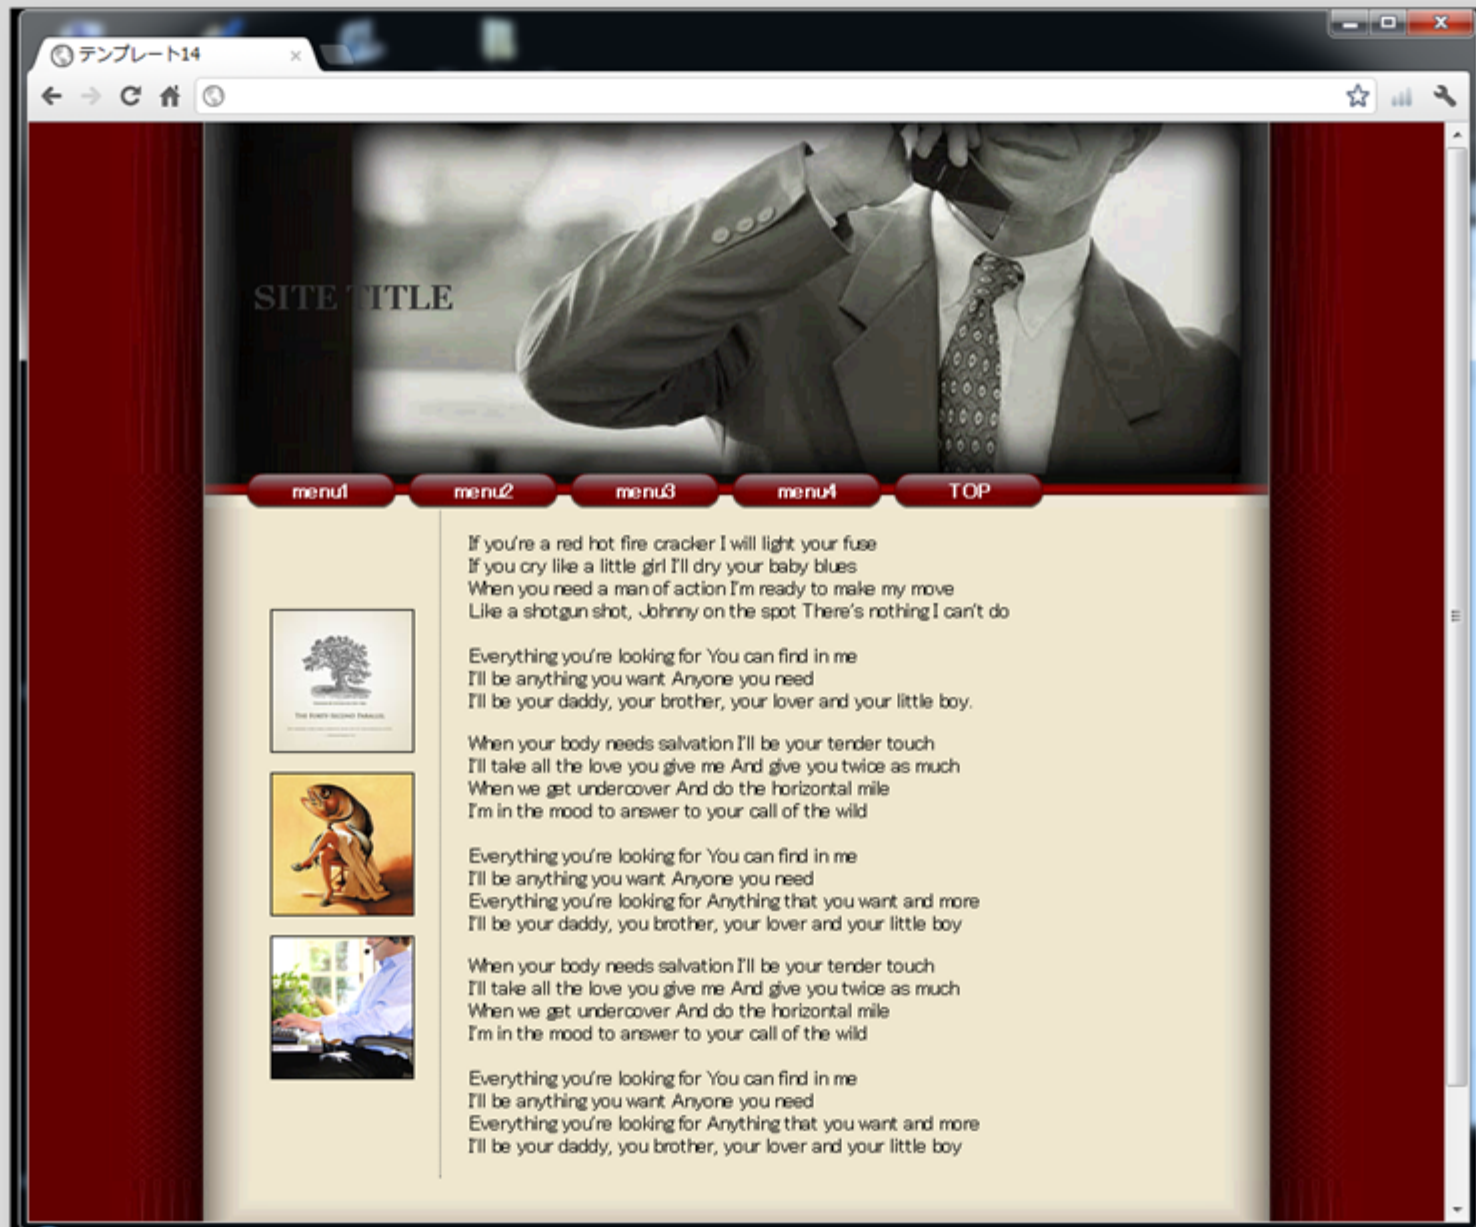

When I'm home everything seems to be right
When I'm home feeling you holding me tight, tight

- our brains are part of that

creation than evolution

In an attempt to get this thinking taught in public schools, some groups are repackaging their belief that a supreme being created life on Earth under the non-religious moniker "intelligent design."

The origin of the debate lies, of course, in Genesis, the opening passages of the Bible, which describe how God created life. Though the Bible itself is a haphazard collection of arbitrarily selected and often mistranslated pieces, many religious people choose to ignore hundreds of years of careful scientific study and instead believe its words literally. I am not among their number. While it may be impossible to prove that evolution is a fact, it is supported by enormous amounts of evidence. Intelligent design, on the other hand, has no body of learning to support it

creation than evolution

The design is not intelligent: Our bodies, and those of animals, are filled with examples of designs that are inefficient or irrational. Have you ever choked on food or drink? Everyone has. That's because the entrance to your lungs and stomach share the same pipe. Bad design. Some people are killed choking on food because of it. If we were designed, why not give us two pipes?
